

SKIING TECHNIQUES FOR BEGINNERS

Teacher
Renan Grossi
Tel.: 98135 3067

Activity I. Complete the following text with the suggested verb tenses:

As a beginner, you _____ (to start) with the snowplow to control speed. You _____ (to point) your 5 ski tips together, forming a “V” shape, and _____ (to push) your heels apart gently. This _____ (to slow) you down on slopes. Last winter, I _____ (to use) this technique, and it _____ (to help) me stop safely. While I _____ (to practice) snowplow, I _____ (to keep) my 10 knees bent for balance.

Right now, I _____ (to work) on turning to steer. You _____ (to shift) your weight to one ski and _____ (to angle) your body toward the turn. I _____ (to learn) this in lessons, and instructors _____ (to show)
15 me how to lean slightly. Last time, I _____ (to turn) too fast and _____ (to wobble) a bit, but practice _____ (to improve) control.

You _____ (to maintain) a low center of gravity to stay steady. I _____ (to bend) my knees and _____ (to tilt) forward a little, not back. On the slopes, you _____ (to look) ahead to spot bumps or ice. I _____

20

(to scan) the path and _____ (to adjust) my speed with small snowplow moves. You _____ (to avoid) crossing skis, or you _____ (to fall) easily.

25 Last season, I _____ (to grip) poles lightly and _____ (to plant) them to help turn. I _____ (to relax) my arms, but tension _____ (to tire) me out fast. Next time, you _____ (to check) your speed often and _____ (to rest) if tired. By next month, I _____ (to 30 build) confidence and _____ (to tackle) gentle slopes. You _____ (to carry) a trail map and _____ (to stick) to beginner runs for safety. I hope you _____ (to enjoy) skiing with these tips!