

UNFORTUNATE EVENTS

Teacher
Renan Grossi
Tel.: 98135 3067

Every day, David _____ (to do) well as an accountant who _____ (to handle) money records ____ (in/on/at) his busy office. He _____ (to love) his job and _____ (to bring) smart ideas ____ (to/for/from) work problems.

5 Right now, David _____ (to sit) on a packed bus here ____ (in/on/at) New York City, _____ (to go) home ____ (to/for/from) work. He _____ (to look) at traffic carefully there ____ (in/on/at) the bus window, _____ (to dodge) possible accidents. His friend Sarah, who _____ (to sit) next to him, _____ (to check) her phone. They 10 _____ (to pick up) new ways ____ (to/for/from) stay safe. David _____ (to think) that care ____ (in/on/at) crowded streets _____ (to stop) trouble, and Sarah _____ (to say) they have enough know-how ____ (in/on/at) their trips. Other riders _____ (to come) ____ (to/for/from) him ____ (to/for/from) tips on city travel.

15 This evening, David _____ (to see) a car weaving ____ (in/on/at) the street ahead, and he _____ (to tell) the bus driver, Mark. The driver _____ (to turn) the bus safely, while Sarah _____ (to watch) traffic news ____ (to/for/from) an app. Yesterday, David _____ (to notice) a bike rider who _____ (to swerve) too close, and he 20 _____ (to call) out ____ (in/on/at) the right moment. While the bus _____ (to move) through heavy traffic, David _____ (to stay) cool there, helping Mark _____ (to escape) a crash. He _____ (to build) a skill ____ (to/for/from) spotting dangers over time.

____ (in/on/at) home, David _____ (to rest) ____ (in/on/at) his 25 small apartment, but now he _____ (to focus) ____ (in/on/at) being alert.
Sarah _____ (to share) some safety ideas ____ (to/for/from) her recent bus rides. Last month, they _____ (to face) a close call when a truck _____ (to stop) fast, but David _____ (to act) quickly. He
_____ (to learn) enough tricks ____ (to/for/from) past scares to stay safe.
30 Sarah _____ (to like) how David _____ (to handle) these moments with ease.

____ (in/on/at) a noisy bus stop, David, Sarah, and Mark
_____ (to talk) about the wild ride. David _____ (to say), "Mark, are we _____ (to have) enough time ____ (to/for/from) skip that traffic 35 jam there?" Mark _____ (to answer), "Yeah, I'm _____ (to use) a shortcut ____ (in/on/at) this road." Sarah _____ (to add), "I'm _____ (to come) ____ (to/for/from) you ____ (to/for/from) more news."
While they _____ (to chat), some passengers _____ (to give) their own advice. They _____ (to find) new paths ____ (to/for/from) each 40 other ____ (in/on/at) these times, as they _____ (to do) ____ (in/on/at) earlier rides.

Tonight, David _____ (to get) off the bus safely ____ (in/on/at) his stop, while Sarah _____ (to keep) going ____ (to/for/from) her place. Mark _____ (to drive) slowly there ____ (in/on/at) the city 45 roads. Last week, David _____ (to avoid) a walker accident by yelling a warning. He _____ (to help) others ____ (in/on/at) tough spots before.
In the next few hours, David _____ (to chill) ____ (in/on/at) home, and Sarah _____ (to message) him about her trip. Tomorrow, they
_____ (to share) more safety ideas and _____ (to try) new bus

50 routes. By next month, David _____ (to be) handling trickier roads easily, while Sarah _____ (to be) riding with him. They _____ (to have) enough practice ____ (to/for/from) master city travel. David _____ (to hope) his careful ways will keep him safe!